Considering things you want to do before and after delivering your baby, you want to discuss with your medical team (doctors, midwife, and nurses). In some hospitals, there are things you can and cannot do: it is better for you to discuss about your birth plan during pregnancy. Below are some examples.

During labor/delivery

Suggested topics to discuss about during labor are: delivery methods (natural or with epidural), having your partner, family or friends in the birthing room, and posture (in what posture you prefer to deliver), etc.

Examples:

- I want natural, vaginal labor
- I want to lay on my side during labor
- I want to be with my partner and friends
- I want to listen to my favorite music
- I want to use aroma therapy
- I want to record my baby being born

Post delivery

You should share requests that are related to your culture and religion as well as meals and lifestyle.

Examples:

- I do not eat pork
- I want to have soup my family makes
- I do not want to take shower
- I want to pray

About your baby

You should also share what you want and do not want to do for your newborn baby.

Examples:

- I do not want to fee milk
